B.C. to Build Ships for War, Says Mayhew

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., chairman of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said at a meeting of the Victoria branch at the Empress-Hotel today that British Columbia will be called upon to play an even more important part than she did in the last war in contributing to British and Canadian defence requirements.

Chief among the contributions will be the building of ships, both naval and merchant, to replace wastage and to provide transportation for British Columbia products overseas.

Mr. Mayhew recalled that British Columbia established an enviable record in shipbuilding during the last war. In view of the fact that this province is in a much more favorable position than 25 years ago to build ships, he believes on the information which the association has, that a revival of shipbuilding in British Columbia on a substantial scale is a distinct possibility.

EARLY ORGANIZATION

He said there were other wartime requirements which could well be produced in British Columbia plants, but wanted to emphasize that participation in such business would call for early organization and complete co-operation among the various groups of industries concerned.

B.C. Legislature Meets October 31

British Columbia's Legislature will be called into session starting October 31, Premier Pattullo announced today.

This will be about a week later than the usual opening of the fall meeting, but since a shorter session than usual is expected, prorogation will probably be around the customary time in the first week of December.

The short delay in the opening will fit in with arrangements of Hon. John Hart, Finance Minister, who has gone east to sign the province's latest bond issue, and Attorney-General Wismer who leaves September 30 to fight the province's gasoline price-fixing case before the Supreme Court of Canada in Ottawa.

German Soldiers Fight in Armor

ROME (CP-Havas) — A new kind of gladiator has appeared on the western front—German soldiers in bullet-proof armor carrying portable machine guns capable of firing 120 shots a minute.

The special correspondent of the Popolo di Roma attached to German headquarters at the West Wall today gave a graphic description of the troops.

These super-armed men serve as special shock troops. They have been trained in the most highly specialized aspects of hand-to-hand fighting in the modern manner. They are organized in small detachments, each under command of an officer.

B.C. Germans Denied Canadian Citizenship

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Judge J. D. Swanson in County Court here rejected the naturalization applications of two German subjects, saying he considered it "not the proper policy to approve the naturalization of enemy aliens during war days."

But the judge told the applicants they "will enjoy every liberty of action and the respect of the community, provided you conduct yourselves as loyal citizens of Canada, giving no sympathy or aid in any manner to our enemies." Otherwise, he said, they would be liable to internment under the War Measures Act.

Armistice Massacre Convict Freed

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Governor Martin of Washington, has commuted the 25-year sentence of Ray Becker, convicted of second degree murder in connection with the Centralia Armistice Day "massacre" of 1919. Commutation is effective tomorrow.

War Summary

Assassination of Premier Armand Calinescu of Rumania, anti-Nazi "strong man," today shocked Balkan nations on the fringe of the eastern war front, while Europe watched expectantly for major developments in the west. Calinescu had been the foe of the pro-Nazi Iron Guard.

"Throughout Rumania there is terrible excitement," said a broadcast over the Rumanian government radio station. Then the broadcast was cut off.

Rumanians in Budapest fear the Iron Guard is already in charge in Bucharest.

Rumanian diplomats in Budapest said the Calinescu assassination was "highly significant just at a moment when German and Russian troops are approaching Rumania's northern frontier."

Other Budapest sources said they believed a revolt of the Iron Guard, long expected, had come.

A German coup to take Rumania "from the inside" is feared, giving Germany Rumanian oil and other supplies she needs.

SAVED BY FLIERS

Another British freighter, the Kensington Court, was sunk by a submarine. The 34-man crew was rescued by two British flying patrol boats.

Leslie Burgin, Minister of Supply, disclosed in the British House the creation of a war supply council and broad plans to "use every ounce of endeavor and ton of output" in the United Kingdom for the winning of the war. Already 700 firms are making shells and 6,500 contractors are busy throughout the country.

Berlin reports the eastern front had been cleared up with the exception of four centres of resistance in Poland.

GOEBBELS DENIES

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels denied before foreign correspondents allegations that Germany intended to violate the neutrality of Belgium, the Netherlands or Luxembourg.

There had been reports that Goebbels had fallen into Hitler's disfavor. This was his first appearance before foreign newsmen since Germany started her campaign.

Warsaw remained in Polish hands, but the only fighting reported outside the Warsaw district was in small sections near the Baltic and in the southeast near Lwow.

FRENCH TROOPS MOVING

Swiss "predictions of major French operations were based on troop movements during the night behind the Maginot fortifications.

A French communique said there was "local activity by advance guards" on the west and "artillery action on both sides." France expected a major German offensive soon as the result of Nazi success against Poland. Communiques reported eight enemy planes and three balloons shot down on the western front.

350,000 POLES CAPTURED

Communiques of the German army high command said "Polish prisoners taken along the northern front increased to 170,000." They claimed a total of more than 350,000 captured.

Russia's armies advanced through Poland toward the Hungarian frontier and reached Grodno, only 16 miles from the eastern Prussian border.

Berlin sources attributed Germany's failure to deliver Warsaw a knockout blow to a desire to refrain from offending world opinion while the United States Congress is considering neutrality problems.

PAN-AMERICAN PEACE

Congress gathered in Washington to hear a special message on neutrality from President Roosevelt.

Administration leaders believed the President would win eventually in his desire for repeal of the present embargo on arms shipments to belligerents.

Early-arriving delegates to a Pan-American conference in Panama expressed belief there would be no major disagreements at the meeting for discussion of means for preserving peace and neutrality in the western hemisphere.

BOHEMIAN REVOLT

The ministry of information in London said it had learned of a "serious revolt in Bohemia and Moravia, provinces of Czechoslovakia which became a German protectorate last March.

German authorities denied trouble in that quarter, however, and offered to let newspapermen inspect the former Czechoslovak regions.

Arms Ban Danger To U.S. Neutrality, Congress Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt called on Congress in extraordinary session today to help preserve "American neutrality, American security and American peace" by repealing outright the law against selling arms and munitions to nations at war.

Outlining in addition steps to keep United States ships and citizens out of the war's zones of danger, the President drew loud applause from the senators and representatives crowded into the high-ceilinged House chamber when he said:

"This government must lose no time or effort to keep the nation from being drawn into the war. In my candid judgment we shall succeed in these efforts."

As he spoke, in measured, emphatic tones, Mr. Roosevelt stood behind the clerk's desk on the House rostrum. A grave-faced Congress, possibly recalling the sessions of 25 years ago, when other war ravaged Europe, paid close attention. Members of his cabinet were immediately before him.

THREE ENVOYS ABSENT

In the gallery opposite, diplomats from over the world occupied a reserved space, but attendees said representatives of Germany, Italy and Japan were not present. One of the last to arrive before the President began speaking was Count Jerry Potochi, the Polish ambassador.

The regular visitors' galleries were not as crowded as on similar occasions of the past because admittance was limited.

While he asked repeal of the arms embargo, the President outlined among other parts of his program regulations which would put in effect a cash-and-carry system. This, he said, could be achieved either by law or by executive proclamation, according to the wish of Congress.

Of the European situation he said:

"I should like to be able to offer the hope that the shadow over the world might swiftly pass. I cannot. The facts compel my stating, with candor, that darker periods may lie ahead."

The embargo provision of the neutrality law, he declared, "so alters the historic foreign policy of the United States that it impairs the peaceful relations of the United States with foreign nations."

The "crux" of the issue, he said, was repeal of the embargo which forbids shipments of munitions to combatant nations, and a "return to international law."

He regarded the law against selling arms as the "most vitally dangerous to American neutrality and peace."

The President took occasion, too, to renew his plea for non-partisanship during the present situation.

"Let no man or group in any walk of life," the President said, "assume exclusive protectorate over the future well-being of America—because I conceive that regardless of the party or section the mantle of peace and of patriotism is wide enough to cover us all."

"Let no group assume the exclusive label of the peace 'bloc,' we all belong to it."

RESTRICTIONS

When and if the embargo is scrapped, the President said there were other phases of policy "reinforcing American safety" that should be considered.

He listed: Restricting American merchant vessels, so far as possible, from entering danger zones. Preventing American citizens from traveling on belligerent vessels.

Requiring foreign buyers to take transfer of title in the United States to commodities bought by belligerents. (Cash-and-carry).

Preventing extension of war credits to belligerents.

Two other objectives, the President said, have been attained

Flying Boats Rescue Torpedoed British Ship's Crew

LONDON (AP)—The government announced today that two Royal Air Force flying patrol boats had rescued the crew of 34 of the steamship Kensington Court, which sent out an SOS after it had been attacked by a submarine.

The announcement by the Minister of Information said the thrilling Atlantic rescue was the first time an entire ship's crew had been picked up at sea by flying boats.

The Kensington Court was a 4,683-ton vessel, owned by the Court Line. London was her port of registry.

(The Kensington Court left Rosario, Argentina, August 15. Her destination then was Dakar, French West Africa, but apparently she had been diverted because of the outbreak of war.

(She was built in 1927 in Glasgow and was 396 feet long and had a 53-foot beam).

ACTED SPEEDILY

Flying boats responding to the SOS arrived alongside a lifeboat from the sunken ship 10 minutes before she went down.

"The pilots saw a tiny boat crowded with men while others were in the sea clinging to the sides," the announcement said. "While one flying boat kept watch from the air the other came down on the water alongside the overloaded lifeboat."

"Fourteen of the men, some in desperate condition, were pulled into the aircraft. When it had taken off with a heavy load the other aircraft descended and picked up 20 more men. Two aircraft made a search for the attacking submarine, but it was not located. The steamship's crew said one of their two lifeboats had capsized and the other was in danger of sinking."

The statement related that all 34 were landed in England safely.

U.S. STRAW VOTES FAVOR ALLIES

NEW YORK (CP)—A survey of editorial opinion throughout the United States, conducted by the Christian Science Monitor of Boston, revealed a ratio of four newspapers to one favoring repeal of the arms embargo and urging Congress to take this step as it gathered in Washington today.

The Monitor polled the editorial opinion of 120 newspapers in city and hamlet. Eighty-eight papers, with a total circulation of 11,514,522, favored repeal of the arms embargo. Twenty-two others, with a circulation of 2,504,146 were against such repeal.

Another nation-wide straw vote completed by the magazine Fortune showed almost two-thirds of the United States people against a strict isolationist policy for the country.

This national survey revealed 83.1 per cent of the people wanted Great Britain and France to win the war, while only 1 per cent favored Germany.

29.3 per cent of the population would have the United States supply war and other war materials to all belligerents on a cash-and-carry basis;

24.7 per cent would refuse aid of any kind to either side;

13.5 per cent would enter the war on the side of the Allies if it appeared they were losing the war, but in the meantime would help them with food and other materials;

19.9 per cent would not enter the war, but would supply food and other materials to the Allies while refusing such supplies to Germany.

Italy Stiffens Defences

ROME (AP)—Italy today continued her military preparations. Mussolini conferred with Gen. Luigi Negri, commander of the Alpine troops, on defences of the frontier.

Great British Drive Speeds War Supplies

LONDON (CP)—Creation of a war supply council and broad plans to use "every ounce of endeavor and ton of output" in the United Kingdom for the winning of the war were disclosed in the House of Commons today by Leslie Burgin, Minister of Supply.

Giving the nation a revealing glimpse of the extent of the weapons Britain is forging, Mr. Burgin declared his department had placed orders for war supplies exceeding £70,000,000 ($277,000,000) since the outbreak of hostilities.

That is nearly £4,000,000 ($15,800,000) daily for the 19 days of war.

Mr. Burgin will head the supply council, with Sir Harold Brown as director of munitions production, and Lord Weir as director-general of explosives.

BUCHAREST — Premier Armand Calinescu, foe of the pro-Nazi Iron Guard and staunch advocate of Rumanian economic and political co-operation with Great Britain and France, was assassinated today, machine-gunned at 12.30 p.m. (3.30 a.m., P.S.T.), by masked men in another automobile which drove alongside his own in a Bucharest street. Troops were at once called up to head off a coup.

Calinescu died on the way to University Hospital. His chauffeur was instantly killed.

Rumanian diplomats in Budapest said the slaying was "highly significant just when German and Russian troops are approaching Rumania's northern frontier. They recalled Rumania had got Bessarabia from Russia at the end of the last war.

They also disclosed the Bucharest government had suppressed news of Iron Guard agitation throughout Rumania, said to have begun as soon as Germany invaded Poland.

Other Budapest sources said they believed a revolt of the outlawed Iron Guard, long expected, had come.

Eight of the alleged assassins and accomplices have been arrested. The troops were called to surround their cells and public buildings and to guard against any attempt at a coup.

While the assassins were carrying out their assignment another band of armed, masked men seized the Bucharest radio station, shooting and wounding the announcer and interrupting the scheduled program.

Then one of them announced that Calinescu had been killed in a revolt.

Police rushed immediately to the scene of the shooting, where two of the alleged killers were arrested.

When the Associated Press correspondent attempted to give additional details of the assassination, the telephone connection between Bucharest and Copenhagen was broken.

OVER OIL FOR GERMANY Diplomatic circles here had said an economic war over Rumanian oil was under way, with a German mission in Bucharest attempting to obtain vast quantities of the output for Germany's army and air force.

In Budapest the Rumanian legation reported the Bucharest radio station shut down at 2.10 p.m., "after some minutes of wild, confused shouting" which could be heard over the microphone.

The legation said in mid-afternoon it had been unable to reach the Bucharest Foreign Ministry by telephone.

The radio interrupted a musical program to make the announcement.

On several occasions the Rumanian police had announced discovery of plots by the Iron Guard against the premier and against King Carol.

Assassination Signal For Coup, Bucharest Fears

GENERALS TAKE OVER

BUCHAREST (midnight) (AP) — Three generals took over top posts in a new Rumanian government tonight following the assassination of Premier Armand Calinescu in a plot attributed to the pro-Nazi Iron Guard.

"PRELUDE TO UPRISING"

BUDAPEST (AP)—(Late) — Belgrade Rumanian legation officials said after an attempt to reach Bucharest by telephone that "apparently the Iron Guard already is in charge." They said they had "reason to believe" that the assassination of Calinescu was only a "prelude to nationwide uprising by the Iron Guard."

Calinescu's campaign against the Iron Guard came to a head in the fall of 1938.

Calinescu was Minister of Interior in charge of police on November 30, 1938, when Corneliu Codreanu, Iron Guard leader and so-called "Little Hitler" of Rumania, was fatally shot by guards "while attempting to escape" during a transfer from one prison to another, according to the official version.

Besides Codreanu, his 14 chief aides also were shot. At that time there were reports that Iron assassinate Calinescu in revenge. Guards had taken an oath to FATALIST

Despite the frequent reported discovery of such plots against him, the premier steadfastly refused to have a bodyguard. It was said that Calinescu told King Carol when the monarch begged him to employ guards: "No man can escape his fate."

In Budapest Rumanian legation sources reported there had been constant agitation throughout Rumania by Iron Guard members since the start of Germany's invasion of Poland. They said the news had been suppressed by the Bucharest government lest it lead to "complications" during the international crisis.

They explained the "complications" by pointing to assertions frequently made by Calinescu in the past that Nazi authorities in Berlin were supporting the Iron Guard directly.

"A transcription of the Rumanian government radio program available at Budapest showed that the announcer said: 'This morning a successful attempt was made on the life of Premier Calinescu. 'Throughout Rumania there is terrible excitement and—' At that point he was cut short and the station went silent.

Last January and February police announced discovery of terrorist plots by the Iron Guardsists to overthrow King Carol's regime and assassinate his "strong man."

The Iron Guard organization at the outset was largely anti-Semitic. Codreanu rallied many university students to its standard. One of his earliest exploits as Iron Guard leader was the shooting of the police prefect of Jassy for severity in suppressing anti-Jewish students riots.

The young chieftain was acquitted and that increased his following. In 1934 he stood trial for the assassination of Premier Ion Duca. He and 45 of his associates were acquitted. Three youths who were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment were said to belong to the Iron Guard.

KING CAROL'S MAINSTAY A small man with a big black monocle over a sightless left eye, Calinescu had been one of King Carol's mainstays in effecting governmental changes under which the King became a virtual dictator.

Tomatoes Bombard 'Hitler Heiler'

WORLAND, Wyo.—The police department of Worland, Wyo., shuns responsibility for what may happen to an evangelist if he continues to make speeches in defence of Adolf Hitler.

Chief of Police Ralph Sanders told the evangelist, the Rev. R. H. Klaudt, "We'll try to protect you but won't be responsible if you continue your speeches."

Worland citizens began a tomato bombardment as the Rev. Mr. Klaudt, reaching a high emotional pitch, shouted: "Nothing can stop Hitler."

The evangelist ended his speech as the tomato barrage was laid down and demanded a citizen's right to police protection.

He had told his audience that "Hitler was sent by God to see that the Jews get back to Palestine."

TARR URGES BROAD OUTLOOK

TORONTO (CP)—To promote objective study of the clash of national interests such as has led to a second Great War is the purpose of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, which has just published its annual report.

The institute has branches in all the provinces except Prince Edward Island, and its membership of Canadians anxious to get a clear picture of world affairs now totals 1,190, an increase of 129 for the year ended June 30.

In a foreword to the annual report, C. J. Tarr, president of the national council of the institute, says the greatest service members can render to the nation is to help foster "a broad national outlook," making for "an appreciation of the real causes of international rivalry and friction."

"A lack of this appreciation by Canada," he said, "would prevent Canada playing its part, large or small, in unraveling the tangle of world affairs."

The report notes a growing interest in the institute in French Canada. The annual conference of the body was held in Montreal last May, and officials report it drew a large attendance of French-speaking Canadians.

Speakers addressed some 240 institute meetings from coast to coast during the past year. Many of the speakers were Canadians, and three prominent lecturers from Quebec made national tours. They were Jean-Charles Harvey, Roger Quimet and Georges Pelletier.

Fourteen study groups held regular meetings through the year. A new departure by the institute was the organization of Canadian-American groups, who discussed affairs of the western hemisphere at meetings in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and New York.

In order to extend its influence beyond its membership, the institute this year set up a committee, headed by T. W. L. MacDermot, principal of Upper Canada College, Toronto, to study the opportunity for public education.

The committee has adopted a program of furnishing speakers to interested organizations throughout Canada and of publishing a series of pamphlets on international problems and related Canadian questions. In addition, the institute may sponsor a conference of university students of Ontario and Quebec during the coming winter.

The institute's financial position was recently strengthened by a grant of $10,000 a year for three years from the Rockefeller Foundation, the money to be devoted to research, the fees of lecturers and public education through study groups and conferences.

Gun Practice In New York Harbor

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time in history, the United States army plans anti-aircraft practice in New York Harbor.

Army officials have warned ships, fishermen and airplanes to avoid a specified section of the lower bay until the end of next week because of machine gun operations at Miller Field, Staten Island, which commands the entrance to the upper bay.

Some guinea pigs bred for show have hair so long the animal resembles a mop.

The photographs which newspapers publish are the photographs which the British press censor decides may be published, as this photo shows. No indication of any kind was given as to the nature of the photographs held up.

French Reply to Hitler, Speech 'Full of Lies'

PARIS (AP)—The text of a French official commentary on Adolf Hitler's Danzig speech of Tuesday follows:

The day after the success which he promoted showily and which he owes to the treachery of the Soviets, Fuehrer Hitler made sad pleas, destined as he himself said, to be used to influence internal public opinion in Germany.

Hitler felt the need to justify himself before the German people for the awful catastrophe in which he has involved them. He only took up again with banality and increased blatancy habitual repeated statements of German propaganda. Nothing was missing, neither lies about Polish aggression and cruelties, nor habitual couplets on the Versailles Treaty, nor the traditional manoeuvre of dissociation between France and England, nor attempts at intimidation, nor insults, nor the no less traditional threats to an adversary, nor the kicking of a victim.

As in all Hitler's speeches lies abounded in this defensive address. The Fuehrer charged again the war was caused by the British guarantee to Poland. He wishes to hide from his people that that guarantee is a direct consequence of his going back on his word, of violation of engagements which he had taken, of the destruction of Czechoslovakia coming after that of Austria and the occupation of Prague by German troops.

Concerning German aggression against Poland he explains it by the single necessity of getting Danzig back. But he affirms later that he will never let Poland be reborn. Danzig then is only a pretext. In reality Hitler wished to destroy Poland, a destruction which is only itself a new step toward domination of Europe.

Hitler is indignant at the treatment which the Polish government, according to Nazi propaganda, forced the German minorities to suffer. It is the story of the Sudetens which is recommending. But Hitler says nothing about the abominable atrocities of which the civil population of Poland have been victims and against which President Roosevelt protested on the basis of authentic documents.

"Peace would have been saved," Hitler says again, "if Poland had accepted my proposals, moderated to the extreme." Unfortunately for the Hitlerian thesis Poland never knew of these proposals. For the rest Hitler confesses that since August 23 he has been in agreement with Stalin to finish off Poland. How then could his "moderated" proposals of August 31 have been sincere.

Hitler presents Polish mobilization as being the determining element of the conflict. But it is known today that five German armies were on a war footing and the plan of conquest had only to be put in action. The Italian newspaper Gazette del Popolo has shown since the justice of the argument.

"The reverse of the Polish army," says this newspaper on September 17, "is explained in large part by the fact that general mobilization in Poland was unable to be put into effect normally because of the lightning land and air offensive by the German armies."

Finally Hitler feigns astonishment that France and Britain make war against him and not against the German people. France and Britain will not allow, in effect, the dictatorship of Hitler to condemn the world to slavery, to the ruin of all moral values and the destruction of liberty.

British Funds in Canada $2,700,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—British investments in Canada total approximately $2,700,000,000, according to Bureau of Statistics estimates. The total based on 1937 returns was placed at $2,684,000,000 and possibly is somewhat higher now.

In his statement Tuesday night Hon. Ian Mackenzie said some means would be found "whereby Canadian dollars may be made available to the British government to purchase needed supplies in this country. In the first instance this will probably involve repatriation of Canadian securities held in London and at a later stage the granting of credits."

Of the total investment, approximately $1,400,000,000 is in bonds and debentures representing funded debts of the Dominion, the provinces, railways, municipalities and other corporations in Canada. London holds around $319,000,000 in Dominion Government bonds.

Frenchman Given Impressive Funeral

BERLIN (AP)—The German Army buried Lieut. Louis Paul Deschanel, son of a former President of the French Republic, with impressive ceremonies Tuesday at Ottweiler, in the Saar region. Deschanel was killed while leading a patrol near Germany's Siegfried Line. The Germans buried him in the Naumburger Cemetery. The coffin was covered with the tri-color and on it lay a Frenchman's helmet.

The young lieutenant was the son of Paul Eugene Louis Deschanel, who was elected President of France in January, 1920, and resigned in the fall of that year because of ill-health.

CANADIAN ENVOY—Loring C. Christie, an official in the department of external affairs since 1913, has been appointed Canadian minister to Washington. He succeeds Sir Herbert Marler, who retired because of ill-health.

Sandbag Up And Sand, Too

LONDON (CP)—With a crisis, the price of sandbags in Britain goes up. And with a war, prices soar.

Sandbags which cost about 5 cents in June now cost 8 to 10 cents. Prices rose 2s (44 cents) a hundred in the week before the declaration of war.

Much of the jute used to make sandbags comes from Calcutta and with the close of British Mediterranean shipping cost of shipping increased and private firms could no longer guarantee deliveries.

Another factor was the demand of the government for all available bags. Authorities stress that the uncertainty of shipping and the government demand, and not profiteering, were the primary causes of the rise.

Filler for the bags has also become more expensive, with sand rising from 7s ($1.54) to 10s ($2.20) a ton. Because sand cannot be obtained quickly enough, sandbags in many places are being filled with earth.

Claim New Record With Fever Cures

NEW YORK (CP)—A new record in curing gonorrhea, 97 per cent, obtained by combining the two latest treatments, artificial fever and sulphanilamide, was claimed before the American Congress of Physical Therapy.

The report was made by Dr. Elmer Belt and Dr. Alvin Folkenberg of Los Angeles. Moreover, they declared nearly all the remaining 3 per cent got well when subjected to a second course in which the fever was intensified.

By the new combination they said only five hours of fever was needed. Expense and difficulties of taking have been a handicap in wide use of artificial fever for this disease.

Dr. A. E. Bennett announced the report of a group of doctors which asserted artificial fever has restored the sanity of 53 per cent of 70 cases of paresis sufferers. The report said treatment by medicine alone gave 12 per cent of cures.

"Hello, Daddy!"

Daddy was just back from a sales trip to the Magdalen Islands on Canada's eastern doorstep. To him it was routine. To little Ruth it was a chance to stay up late and hear stories...

"Twice as many people live on that ridge of Davy Jones' Locker as in the Yukon," he told Ruth and her mother; "yet they have no newspaper, no movie, few roads. It takes real seamanship to bring a ship in safely. Wrecks? Why, years ago a shift in the wind put 37 schooners ashore there in an hour! The islanders used to be cut off from the world for months. They got so peeved about it that they filled a barrel with letters to the Governor General and everybody, and set it adrift with a sail marked 'Winter Magdalen Mail'. It had the desired effect. Today the islands are one of Canada's most difficult air mail landings; but the intrepid airmen get in..."

His wife said, "So do Imperial salesmen!" She might have added that Imperial salesmen visit all the out-of-the-way regions in the Dominion from Labrador to the Yukon. "Empire Builder modern tourists are a grand way to travel — and economical, too. We're enjoying every attention — little things, like a pillow for me, or a table if Bill wants to work. The berths are soft and comfortable, fairly lure you to sleep. I particularly like the clean, roomy dressing rooms. Of course Empire Builder tourist cars are air-conditioned, too.

"The scenery is marvelous — this afternoon we rode for more than 60 miles along Glacier National Park — such a rugged, beautiful country. I've saved the best for the last — the dining car meals! Really the finest food, and so appetizing. Yet the prices are exceptionally low."

An Agreed Policy

FIRST AND FOREMOST IN CANADA'S war policy is the fundamental recognition of the necessity to defend herself. This is considered by Great Britain as our most effective primary contribution to the general cause to which she and France have committed themselves. Next is the training of two fully-equipped divisions of troops for service where, when, and if required. To accompany all other preparations will be the constant training of flying men and complete mobilization of such economic and industrial machinery as may be necessary to supply Great Britain and her ally with a never-ending stream of raw and manufactured materials.

The foregoing policy, as announced on behalf of the government by Minister of Defence Ian Mackenzie just before he was installed as Minister of Pensions and National Health in Mr. King's reorganized cabinet, represents the product of a working arrangement with the British government in collaboration with French experts. Complementary to this general program is the creation of the War Supply Board which Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night. This practical scheme, moreover, coincides with the formation by the British government today of a War Supply Council, which Mr. Leslie Burgin, Minister of Supply, explains will have broad plans to use "every ounce of endeavor and ton of output" in the United Kingdom for the "winning of the war." His department, incidentally, has placed orders for supplies worth $4,000,000 daily since the outbreak of hostilities 19 days ago; and he disclosed that no fewer than 700 firms already are making shells or the components of the shells.

There is nothing ambiguous in the war policies of Canada and Great Britain. The Dominion Government knows what is expected of it and will now proceed to "deliver the goods." What has been so far arranged for, however, must not be considered an unalterable program. Circumstances change overnight. Events which might have been ruled out as almost fantastic a week ago are now accomplished fact. "Incidents" just as startling in their significance and implication may be frequent before the war is much older. But against such eventualities Great Britain and Canada obviously have prepared themselves. For example, if some of those establishments which Mr. Burgin says are turning out very necessary shells should be put out of business by enemy bombs, this country would be the logical source of supply with which to make up the deficiency.

These matters are agreed upon in the Canadian and British capitals—and, of course, in Paris. And it requires no imagination to understand why the government at Ottawa does not send out a daily bulletin to every city council, ward association, or service club describing in detail all that transpires between itself and the authorities in Downing Street or the Quai d'Orsay. Nor is this the time for long-winded and half-baked resolutions which smack more of village politics than any concern for the requirements of a national emergency. A holiday for such terms as "whereas" and "be it resolved" would hurt nobody.

What of Washington?

FORTUNE MAGAZINE AND THE CHRISTIAN Science Monitor have been sounding out American public opinion on the subject of the Republic's Neutrality Act and the nation's general attitude toward the new war in Europe.

Fortune's "straw vote" has revealed that two-thirds of the American people are opposed to isolation and that 83.1 per cent want the Allies to triumph over Hitlerism. The Monitor appealed to 120 newspapers for editorial opinion and found 88 of them favored repeal of the arms embargo and 22 voted negatively.

Before this is read the world will know—it knows already if his fervent appeal to Congress last July meant anything—what President Roosevelt wants in the light of an actual war condition.

Two Complexes

WHEN HE WAS SPEAKING AT THE Summer School of the London Group for Individual Psychology recently, Dr. Franz Plewa, assistant to the late Dr. Alexander Adler of Vienna, explained the difference between inferiority feeling and inferiority complex. The former he describes as a quality of the human being, and when a man does not follow an inferiority feeling, then comes the inferiority complex. When a person suffers from inferiority feeling "he suffers from an unfulfilled social task."

If our ancestors have contributed something to the world, it would seem to be our duty to contribute something also. No one should suffer from an inferiority feeling. It is only when a man does not realize the facts of life that he will suffer from it. And, as Dr. Plewa infers, no psycho-therapist can ever cure a man suffering from an inferiority complex; he can treat him. The man must cure himself. Nobody will contest the dictum that we should encourage the individual, make him realize he is not valueless to the community, but that he can be turned into a useful asset if he will learn to apply properly such talents as he may possess.

What the Map Tells

THOSE WHO ARE INCLINED TO BE somewhat pessimistic about Soviet Russia's new association with Nazi Germany should study the map of Southeastern Europe. It is true that Russia is by no means friendly disposed toward Roumania; she has her eye on Roumanian Bessarabia, her own property before the Great War. Germany likewise continues to cast covetous eyes at King Carol's kingdom; she would like to obtain early and complete control of her vast oil and food resources.

But if there is one country Joseph Stalin will not permit Adolf Hitler to annex, or dominate, it is Roumania. The map illustrates why: Germany or German influence is not wanted on the Black Sea—the only shoreline Roumania possesses. Bulgaria, of course, also has a territorial grievance against Roumania, was an ally of Germany in the Great War, but has no quarrel with either of the two newly-established totalitarian nonaggression partners. By the same token, if any outside influence is to be allowed to dominate this latter Balkan state, it will be Russian and not Teuton. Bulgaria's only shoreline is the Black Sea. The other Black Sea power beside Russia is the ally of Great Britain and France—Turkey, whose friendly associations with Sovietland have existed for several years. This has assumed a new significance, especially to the two democracies, since Poland's eclipse.

Finally, it would appear that neither Turkey nor Russia will be inclined to facilitate the old German Drang nach Osten (drive to the East) policy which, although little is said about it, is not dead. These, and others well known, are some of the factors suggestive that Russo-German relations and interests may conflict if vital strategic and political considerations are treated to too much Nazi technique.

Words of Warning

FOREIGN SECRETARY VISCOUNT HALLOWELL emphasized an important point in the House of Lords today when he said that Great Britain "must not undertake anything that does not directly contribute" to victory in the European war.

In the foregoing it is easy to detect an exhortation to all contributors to "the cause" that they so prosecute their individual policies as to bring the most effective pressure to bear where and when it is most needed.

Apart from what Canada already has arranged to do, strictly in conformity with British policy and in intimate co-operation with the government at Westminster, nothing must be undertaken in this Dominion which does not directly contribute to the achievement of the desired end. In other words, one of the prime requisites, in the interest of effective mobilization of the national effort, is economic stability from the Atlantic to the Pacific. A Canada united, a Canada conducting her affairs in an orderly fashion, is no comfort to Adolf Hitler.

What would please the head of the Nazi oligarchy, of course, would be a Canada thrown into internal strife by the introduction of any unnecessary controversy—especially at this juncture. Armchair military experts, also those afflicted with the resolution urge, please note.

Italy will stay neutral, if possible. As the New Yorker puts it, the Duce's great heart bleeds at the thought of fighting anybody his own size.

Worse Than the Kaiser

From New Republic

The world confronts its new war benumbed. The former swept over an unsuspecting population like a diabolical onrush from hell, reversing the whole mood of liberal Victorian sweetness and light, piling new horror upon horror. Now all this has been anticipated by a weary period of tension: our nerves are already exhausted and do not twinge much any more. For a long time the flames have been licking at the fringes of Western Civilization, giving advance samples of what they could do. This is merely the climax, coming almost as a relief. We say that it is a tragedy, but our pessimism has robbed war of its liveliest terror.

What really is unbearable about it is not so much the sufferings accompanying the dirty job as dread of the outcome. Sacrifice and cruelty are necessary, but to what purpose? Last time it was to be for the end of war itself and the creation of a better world. The result is what we see. There is a mood which observes with bitter and bored fascination the apparent self-repetition of history. We got rid of the Kaiser; we defeated militarism and autocracy; we upheld the sanctity of treaties; we proved that aggression does not pay. Now we have to deal with an autocratic ruler infinitely worse than the Kaiser, who has intensified the old spirit of militant nationalism, who tears up promises faster than the Kaiser ever made them, who has learned a dozen new methods of aggression.

Of course, it is necessary that Hitler and his regime be defeated and expunged; there is no living with him for decent folk. That is the issue of the war as defined by the statesmen of Britain, France and Poland, and as felt by their people. But what then? Will the world have a still grimmer enemy to face in another quarter-century? It has been truly said ever since 1919 that everybody, even the victor, loses a great war. It has also been said that another world war would mean the end of civilization. Even if this one does not, a cycle of great wars, interrupted only by preparations for them, would destroy the shape of mankind. Must we now sit back in fatalistic despair and watch the sands of our time run out?

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

SUDDEN REVOLUTION

ONLY A FEW MONTHS AGO (it seems a lifetime away now) the Canadian Parliament was looking at the theory of a Planned Economy and recoiling in horror. Yes, it was only last spring that we sat in the barren railway committee room at Ottawa and listened while Mr. Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, poured ice water, with exquisite politeness, upon Mr. McGeer's brave new world.

That was only five months ago. Today Canada has its Planned Economy, its government control of everything. The thing that we have fought off for years, the thing that the present government loathed in its soul above all others, has come upon us quietly in the night. The state has taken over, under the compulsion of war, and nobody is complaining.

Let us examine the details of this, the most remarkable revolution in our history. As Mr. McGeer pointed out in his first appearance before the Banking and Commerce Committee of Parliament years ago, a state which proposes to manage itself through government without actual Socialism must control four key mechanisms. It must control first the issuance of money and credit; second, the price level; third, foreign trade, and fourth, wages.

The government of Canada today has taken full control of money through its bank. It has taken full control of prices, though it has not exercised that control much yet. In the last few days it has taken full control of all exports and imports of goods. It has taken control of all movements of capital in and out of the country.

It has not yet taken control of wages, but hasn't needed to, since wages have not felt yet the shock of war. It will take over wages when that is necessary and nobody will object.

IN WAR AND PEACE

NOW THE PURPOSE of the planned economy is to gear our productive machinery into the production of war supplies. By controlling all the machinery, the government believes that it can concentrate all the energies of the nation into this production. It undoubtedly believes that all the people of Canada able to work will get work turning out these war materials of every sort.

In other words, our economic system will function almost perfectly in producing an abundance of war materials used for purposes of destruction. There will be no idle men, no idle machines, so long as we can use our wealth, our intelligence and our machinery to produce things that our people cannot use at home.

Write this down now in your diary as the great political and economic issue before Canada after the war is over: If our economic machinery can be controlled thus to work perfectly in the manufacture of war materials that we cannot use, why can't it be controlled after the war to produce materials that we can use, that we lack? If our system will work perfectly for destruction why won't it work perfectly for construction?

It is not as simple as that, or as simple as many well-meaning people will try to tell you during the next few years. In the first place, without going into it further, our war prosperity will be built largely on the willingness of outside customers to buy unlimited quantities of our goods, and they will not be willing or able to buy them after the war.

Nevertheless this key fact remains: Having once taken over the whole machinery, as it has done in the last fortnight, the Canadian government will have a hard time liquidating it after the war. Having walked in it will have a hard time to walk out again.

CONTROL THE CONTROLS

THE REAL QUESTION before us is how we are going to use the new powers of government, whether for good or bad. We shall use them successfully, no doubt, to win the war, but after that how shall we use them? Shall we try to push the government out of business again? That will be very difficult, perhaps impossible, except over a long period. Shall we use the new machinery for the benefit of the nation as a whole or for the benefit of a few?

It will all depend upon our intelligence as a people. We are building now a formidable and rather terrifying machine in Ottawa. We have got to learn how to control it and use it or it may turn out after the war to be a Frankenstein. If we don't develop a new understanding of our public business we may find that, having defeated Fascism on the other side of the ocean, we have enthroned it at home.

END OF DAY

When the quick march of day has ceased to beat,
The trivial tasks performed, the duties done,
The futile battles fought and lost and won,
And I have stilled my hurrying thoughts and feet;

When blackness has dispelled in cold defeat
The faint alizarin lingering of the sun,
The lit lamp dark, the final saga spun,
And the last cries have faded from the street,
Then—then you come. In bold relief your face
Takes shape, before me, and you glorify
The empty night; strange and familiar leap
The endless weeks, the endless empty space.
Shivering, I blot you from my inner eye.
So, lost and lonely, slowly sink in sleep.
SUE.

It is a woman's duty to look as good as she can. The ugly billboard is no more depressing than anything else that spoils the scenery.

SPANISH ART "TOUR"

From Des Moines Register

Spain's art treasures, driven out of that unhappy country during her civil war to escape danger of destruction, have now been repatriated—but not because Spain is calm again, but because her authorities feel that the treasures will be safer at home than in their recent refuge in Geneva.

The pictures, 180 of the greatest paintings, have been returned to Madrid, whence they were taken by the republican forces three years ago, being moved from the Prado Museum first to the vaults of the Bank of Spain, thence to Valencia, and finally to Switzerland.

They include priceless works by Goya, Titian, Velasquez, El Greco, and other masters.

It is one of the few discoverable cultural by-products of war that, during their exile, the treasures of the Prado were viewed during their display at Long or Short War?

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

IT WAS CLAUSEWITZ, the great theorist of war, who wrote that one could foresee the beginning of war but not the end. But it is evident that two classes of people think that they can foresee the early end of this one. They are those who, for one reason or another, think there is going to be a comparatively easy victory. On our side all sorts of people expect that an uprising in Germany, or a collapse in Germany, will somehow or other lead to a miraculous quick peace.

The only factor, which, in my opinion, could force an early peace would be an effective demonstration by the great mass of the German people that they were determined to have peace. I may be a hard-shelled pessimist in this respect, but such a demonstration before two years of war—would surprise me very much indeed.

German strategy in this war was based on the lightning stroke and the quick knockout theory of victory. British strategy, on the other hand, is based on the very opposite—a prolonged war with the main dependence on the economic weapon. Hence, it seems to me that it would be the height of folly for us to proceed on any other assumption than that the war will last at least three years, and possibly longer. If some unforeseen development does result in a decisive victory before that time we will be just that much the more pleasantly surprised.

The heartbreak comes the other way. If people think that they are only going to have a fight for six months or a year, and then find that they have to fight for four or five, that is when they come close to the breaking point. While the governments who are responsible for fighting the war can alter their plans if they do not have to fight as long as they expected, they cannot change them effectively the other way around. A nation which has prepared for a six-months' war cannot overnight prepare itself for a six-year struggle.

DIFFERENCES

THE GENERAL set-up in this war is decidedly different from that of 1914. In the autumn of that year the Germans came within a hairsbreadth of capturing Paris, and annihilating the French army. We were pouring men to the western front as fast as we could get them there because the fate of France and the fate of our own Empire depended on what happened from day to day. Today there is no probability that the Germans can even hope to break the Maginot Line and overwhelm France as they nearly did in 1914. But that fact will tend to delay a final verdict, rather than speed it up. Moreover, Germany is protected both on her eastern and southern flanks. If Russia and Italy remain in the position of friendly neutrals, and supply Germany with war materials in accordance with their agreements, our task of making the blockade effective against Germany is going to be more difficult than it was from 1914 to 1918.

What Beck meant, of course, was that the Poles were betting for national survival on a general European settlement not on their own army alone.

CATHEDRAL INSCRIPTIONS

By G.J.D., From Helen Marshall Pratt's "The Cathedral Churches of England"

In the cathedral church of St. Andrew at Wells, one of the two most charming cathedrals of England (the other is its much greater sister of Lincoln), among its tombs, monuments and effigies is a quaint "brass" on the wall to Humphrey Willis Armiger, incised with the kneeling figure of a cavalier surrounded by his sword, tennis racket, cards with dice, guitar and complimentary inscriptions. To the mourning verse describing the widow's inconsolable grief some hand long ago added a Latin transcription which, being translated, reads: "Thy thus, disconsolate, a widow sings, T.P., her cousin, hopes for better things."

In the town records it has been found that Widow Martha Willis married her kinsman, Thomas Popham.

Exeter's cathedral is one of the richest examples of decorated architecture found in England.

IF IT'S Borden's IT'S GOT TO BE GOOD

"Cheese with apple pie is an institution," says Elsie, the Borden Cow, "but when it's made with Chateau Cheese... m-m-m... that's an inspiration!"
Try this marvelous recipe now! The secret? Why, Chateau Cheese, of course! No other! Chateau, the versatile cheese that spreads, slices, melts easily, blends gloriously in cooking.
CHATEAU DEEP APPLE PIE
CRUST
4 oz. Chateau Cheese
1/2 cup butter (soft)
1 teaspoon Salt
1 cup flour (sifted)
Cream cheese and butter together until well blended. Add salt and flour. Chill about fifteen minutes or while apples are being prepared. Cut apples in 1/4 inch slices. Place in a deep 9" pie plate. Press 2 oz. of Chateau Cheese through sieve, sprinkle over apples. Add 1/2 cup granulated sugar. Cover with chilled pie crust rolled to 1/4 inch thickness on a well floured board. Press edge with fork dipped in flour. With a sharp knife make several incisions to permit escape of steam. Bake in a moderate oven 30 mins., or until apples are tender and crust is delicately browned.

CHATEAU CHEESE

On one of the walls of its south Norman tower, built, perhaps, for defence against the Danes, is an old odd inscription. Its translation (from Latin) reads:

"The first Adam, may God save him. Adam so whelmed with shame that He who came to seek and save Adam, Adam became."

In the north transept of St. Alban Cathedral, one of the most interesting cathedrals of England, is an inscription near a mutilated painting on the east wall, part of the reredos of the "Altar of the Learning Cross," which has been translated:

"I am on the cross for thee, those who sinnest, cease, for Me: Cease, I pardon, strive, I help; conquer, I crown."

FOR EVACUATED CHILDREN

To the Editor:—Will you allow me the courtesy of your columns to remind members of the Imperial Daughters of the Empire who are collecting garments for evacuated children in Great Britain, that there are some available, in small sizes chiefly, at the Women's Workshop on Yates Street, below Government and next door to the Modern Shoe Store.

The supply at present is not large, owing to the cost of obtaining materials, but anyone who will take lengths of tweed, serge, flannel or flannelette either to the shop or to the Women's Workshop, 1510 Cook Street, can have these made up at a reasonable charge.

It must be remembered, also, that every two or three months we distribute bundles to one of the welfare societies of Greater Victoria, and for this purpose used clothing and remnants of material are required.

E. FRANCES MORKILL,
President,
Women's Workshop Committee,
750 Pemberton Road.

PRICES AND HOARDING

To the Editor:—At the present time there is much interest in the rise in commodity prices. One frequently hears it said that this is caused by "hoarding." Hoarding will not stop until the public is fully satisfied that the government intends to take action to stop profiteering. Who can blame the housewife on a limited budget if she manages to squeeze out money to purchase an extra sack of flour when the price on this staple has risen 65c on a 49-pound sack in the past week in Victoria?

Where there is a rising volume of sales the wholesaler could well content himself with a smaller profit on each item. Instead, the price has been raised 40 per cent on flour already milled. It may well go up another 40 per cent on flour now being milled from grain held in stock before the declaration of war.

"Hoarding" is caused by the public's apparently well-founded belief that the government will not interfere to prevent profiteering in necessary staple foods. "Profiteering" is not caused by "hoarding," but by our capitalist system. This makes it possible for those in control of large quantities of staple foods, such as flour and butter, to raise prices regardless of the cost at which goods were secured and regardless of the people's needs.

KATHLEEN A. BELL,

GLORY FOR THE POLES

To the Editor:—In times of war people and newspapers alike are apt to lose their heads. An instance of this was the recent cable statement from the London Times that "the Poles, now ground beneath the heels of two invaders, had covered themselves with immortal glory." Yet we were told before the war began that Poland had a population of 32,000,000 and could put in the field an army of 2,000,000 well-trained men and that they could hold out indefinitely. Now we learn that this vast invincible army, after only two weeks' fighting was hopelessly defeated, and this in spite of the fact that they had the advantage of fighting on their own soil, concealed in trenches and with all the advantage of defensive warfare against an enemy approaching in the open. We also learn that a government that breathed defiance to Germany and a determination to fight till the last man fell is now in flight across the country's borders. If this ignominious rout confers immortal glory on the Poles I would rather see a Britain victorious in sackcloth. Compare this with the republican army in Spain, who with the wealth and aristocracy of their own country against them, aided by thousands upon thousands of Moslems, Italians and Germans with all the machinery and resources of war, yet held out for over two years of defensive warfare.

Of course, if we take the ground that all our friends are saints and heroes and all our enemies are downright villains, The Times eulogy may be pardoned. But to me it seems that if we can only keep our heads and fear not to speak the unpleasant truth, we shall do more to win the sympathy of the world and insure a final triumph than we can ever hope to do by traducing the deeds of our enemies and glorifying the failures of our friends.

JAMES MORTON,

PROFESSOR HORRITZ ON THE RUSSIAN RIDDLE

To the Editor:—The Russian riddle seems to be the chief controversial topic everywhere just now. Last week I listened to a discussion of the Soviet sphinx in Victoria and this week in Seattle. Many Canadians are disgusted with Moscow's perfidious policy, and brand Stalin as a ruthless double-crosser. But among politically-minded, not a few contemplate international relations from a broader outlook; they are not so much concerned with the serpentine policy of governments as with the welfare of the toiling masses. According to a London report, the Polish peasantry of the Soviet invaded portions welcomed the Red Army; with smiles and flowers, peasant girls hailed their "redeemers" from the yoke of Polish bosses and landlords. But if the Polish people express gratitude to the "Hammer and Sickle," why denounce the Soviet dictator as a godless traitor? Can that much be said for the Dutch East Indies where subjects, for the slightest act of disobedience, are cruelly flogged, or for the wretched Tunisians whose miserable lot is not alleviated by their outward show of loyalty to France?

We shall be all the saner for a little less prejudice, and a little more political realism.

CORRECTION ON POLAND

To the Editor:—Lord Haldane, to whom Lord Haig inscribed his two volumes of dispatches as "the greatest Secretary of State for War England has ever had," wrote 20 years ago these prophetic words: "The peace terms make me anxious for the tranquility of the world in the next generation. They are not high-minded terms. From Paris I hear privately bad accounts. The French are backing the Poles. They want to cripple Germany permanently. There might be something to be said for it, as a policy, were it not that 45,000,000 people cannot cripple 70,000,000. But they can lay the seeds of war for the future. This treaty submerges Germany in a state of misery and despair, which will in due course have their reaction."

The assertion in your editorial of the 18th inst. that there is no justification for "complaint of maltreatment of Russian-speaking minorities in Poland's Ukraine and that section inhabited by the White Russians" is untrue. These people have been the victims of barbarities, oppression and religious persecution by the Poles, as McCabe demonstrates in "The Papacy in Politics Today." The record is shocking. Such a state, a military dictatorship, that began by robbing Lithuania of its capital Vilna and ended by invading Czechoslovakia, is certainly not fit to rule Russian or other large foreign minorities.

"WON THE WAR AND LOST THE PEACE"

To the Editor:—There are those in democratic and allied countries who for the past year or more have been making the appeal that in the event of war Germany should not be punished and there should not be another Versailles.

What a pleasing reflection and encouragement to the present rulers of Germany to do the very thing they have done—bring on this war. Hitler and those with him undoubtedly feel that if he loses, there will be little or no punishment, and if he wins, everything to gain.

It is not this sort of encouragement that a bandit or murderer would jump at? If such a one broke into the home of Mrs. Nellie McClung, killed one or two members of her household, threatened and maltreated her and the rest of the occupants, robbed her of everything of value, destroyed what they could not take away and then set fire to the house, how would Mrs. McClung feel toward the perpetrator of this violence? Would she be prepared to let him go unpunished, free to perpetrate this sort of villainy.

M. Clemenceau sat as one of "The Big Four" at the Peace Conference of Versailles. It is to be remembered that twice in his own lifetime he had seen his country torn and devastated, his people bled white on the altar of war by the same aggressor. Is it to be wondered at if he felt that such an enemy should be for all time to come, placed in the position where it would be impossible for him to repeat this horror?

In an article Mrs. McClung closes with these words: "We won the war but lost the peace," by being too full of hatred and revenge."

The declaration "We won the last war, but lost the peace" is not original with Mrs. McClung, though the absence of question marks to show this, might lead one to believe otherwise. If my memory serves me, the originator was the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill in a speech to the British House of Commons recently. Mrs. McClung's claim to originality in this case consists in the last eight words, viz: By being too full of hatred and revenge."

On the vexed question of the Peace of Versailles I will quote from the New York Times editorial page, September 3, 1939:

"Democracy fighting for survival in Europe must not let its purpose be weakened or its arm falter by empty regrets about Versailles. The doctrine that the so-called crimes and errors of Versailles made Hitler has no validity. The argument that if Great Britain and France had been wiser and more generous the whole world would not be facing today's bitter test is pure supposition: What was there in the Versailles settlements? For one thing there was the question of minorities—Versailles dealt with the problem by setting up new independent nations like Czechoslovakia and Poland, or transferring racial minorities from foreign rule to existing nations of their own kinsmen, like Serbia and Roumania."

"There was the partial justification that the treaties did create new minorities. But the simple arithmetic fact remains that before 1914 such racial minorities in Europe numbered 75,000,000, and after Versailles they were between 20,000,000 and 25,000,000. "Chief among the alleged crimes and blunders of Versailles is the vindictive treatment of Germany. The territorial settlements were unjust. Whatever may have been the hardships and insults inflicted on Germany in the peace treaty, they have been canceled or were well on their way to extinction long before Hitler appeared on the scene."

"Occupation of German territory was terminated well ahead of time. Allied military supervision in Berlin was ended. More important than any of these, Germany in the Locarno treaties and by entering the League of Nations emerged from her pariah condition. Except for rearmament she was an equal among equals, and equality in armaments would have come in time."

"One further point should be made in a summary that can be only of the briefest. The terms imposed on Germany in the peace treaty were harsh, but they were not wholly the terms written by vindictive men after more than four years of mutual slaughter. The peace conference at Paris met less than a year after the Brest-Litovsk treaty imposed by Germany upon Russia under its Bolshevik rulers. Russia at Brest-Litovsk was stripped of more than a quarter of her arable land and population—perhaps 40,000,000 people. Brest-Litovsk was a sample of the peace which a victorious Germany would impose on the Allies in the west if she came out the victor. It was a demonstration which the Allies no doubt took to heart when it came their turn to write a peace."

"The free nations of Europe in today's hour of trial have no need to blame themselves. They did not bring on the new peril by writing the wrong kind of Versailles treaty 20 years ago. They did not make Hitler, by failing to treat a defeated Germany with generosity. The heart of Germany's grievance has been all along, not the peace treaty that ended the war, but the lost war itself."

DUNCAN "REPRESENTATIVE" MEETING QUESTIONED

To the Editor:—I beg to take exception to a news item of September 14 regarding a representative meeting at Duncan which went on record as favoring the conscription of manpower in Canada.

One wonders just how it could be called representative, consisting as it did of ex-army officers, bank managers, a lawyer, Liberal and Conservative politicians and other employers of labor.

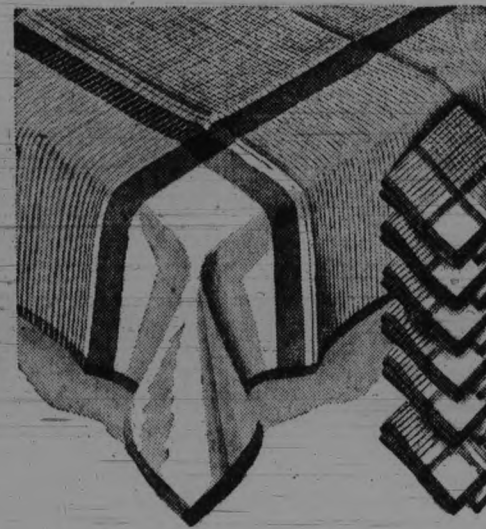

Neither Sam Guthrie, M.P.P., or any of his 800 supporters in Cowichan were present, nor were there any millworkers, loggers, store clerks, farmhands, housewives or any others who earn their living by the sweat of their brow.

I would like to state emphatically that the views expressed by the aforementioned gentlemen do not coincide with those of many of us in Duncan.

Pretty Wedding at Grace Church

Christine Schmelz
Married to
Harry Wm. Payne

Grace Lutheran Church was beautifully decorated with baskets of pink larkspur, gladioli and gypsophila, with an arch of the same flowers and, on the guest pews, white bells tied with white ribbons, for the wedding at 8.30 last evening of Christine Augusta, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schmelz, 1109 Finlayson Avenue, and Mr. Harry William Payne, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Payne, 1125 Johnson Street. Rev. Edwin Bracher performed the ceremony in the presence of a large congregation. Mr. Jesse Longfield played the wedding music, and the soloist was Mr. Pierre Timp, who sang "Love's Coronation."

PRETTY BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in her wedding gown of white satin, with lace insets, with an Elizabethan collar and long pointed sleeves. An embroidered veil reached to the hem of her skirt from a coronet of shirred tulle and orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of carnations, roses and swansonia.

Mrs. Owen Bentley, in a frock of apricot starched net, embroidered with turquoise blue floral sprays, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Payne, sister of the bridegroom, in a similar gown in peach shade, embroidered in blue and Miss Rita Gallie, in turquoise blue embroidered in peach. They all wore matching gloves and French net hats in the contrasting colors, tied with velvet ribbon with turquoise blue veils hanging down the back. They carried bouquets of peach gladioli tied with turquoise tulle. Mr. Bert James, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man, and Mr. Louis Schmelz Jr., and Mr. Dennis Carter were ushers.

LAKE HILL RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Lake Hill Community Hall, where the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Schmelz, she wearing a black embroidered net gown and a picture hat, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Payne in a frock of henna-colored lace with matching accessories. Both wore corsage bouquets of carnations and roses.

The hall had been beautifully decorated in the shades of the bridesmaids' costumes with dahlias, gladioli and larkspur predominating. The bride and groom stood under a floral arch to greet their friends, and supper was served from a table decorated in white and centred with a handsome four-tiered cake, between silver candles. Rev. Edwin Bracher proposed the toast to the bride.

Mr. Pierre Timp, accompanied by his wife at the piano, delighted the guests with several solos; and Mr. Cecil Heaton, at the piano, Mr. W. Anderson, violin, and Mr. W. Holmes, concertina, played appropriate selections.

Assisting at the supper hour were: Mrs. L. Schmelz Jr., Mrs. George Laird, Mrs. James Hogg, Mrs. George Upward, Mrs. V. Roffe, Mr. Fred Greer, and Misses Muriel Rendie, Kathleen Burnett, Dorothy Peacock, Violet James and Mary Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne left at midnight for Vancouver, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride went away in a Marina blue ensemble with a grey and black lamb coat and a corsage bouquet of roses. They will take up residence in their new home, 1222 Seaview Avenue, on their return.

Plant Tree to Honor Frances Willard's Memory

W.C.T.U. and Other Speakers Laud Work of Pioneer

About 150 members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, together with representatives of various women's organizations and public bodies, paid homage to the memory of Frances Willard, crusader in the cause of temperance and pioneer of the women's suffrage movement on this continent, at an impressive tree-planting rite in Beacon Hill Park yesterday afternoon. The delegates carried banners representing all the countries of the world, led by the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes.

Arranged in commemoration of the centenary of her birth, the ceremony was a highlight of the program of the 56th annual convention of the provincial W.C.T.U., in session at Emmanuel Baptist Church.

PIONEER OFFICIATES

Mrs. William Grant, pioneer temperance worker, placed the first spadeful of earth over the roots of the red oak sapling, and paid feeling tribute to Frances Willard, whom she had known personally. That great reformer and pioneer feminist leader had given up a $3,000 per annum salary to enter her great temperance crusade. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which she was responsible for founding, was the first of international women's organizations, and was shortly followed by the founding of the International Council of Women, she recalled.

Mrs. Nellie McClung, pronounced the words of consecration, and urged women to build on a foundation of trust in the soul-changing power of God rather than to depend too much upon reports, speeches and conventions for the attainment of their objectives.

LAUD HER MEMORY

Mrs. James Gray, provincial president, introduced the various speakers, including Mr. William T. Strath, M.P.P., who represented the Provincial Government in the invariable absence of the Premier and Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P., who lauded the pioneer work of Frances Willard in the cause of temperance and woman's suffrage, and Alderman John A. Worthington, who in the absence of the Mayor welcomed the delegates in the name of the city.

Dr. Olga Jardine, president of the Local Council of Women, with which the W.C.T.U. is affiliated, Mrs. T. M. Knox, who recalled with pride the great contribution made by Miss Willard and other outstanding American women to the cause of humanity; Professor E. S. Parr, who paid tribute to the W.C.T.U. for upholding the torch lit by Frances Willard, as evidenced in the recent successful campaign against beer parlors, were among the other speakers.

Greetings from their respective organizations were also brought by Mr. Percy E. George from the Parent-Teacher Association; Rev. F. Comley, representing the Victoria Ministerial Association and also the Anglican community of

I.O.D.E. Organizing Its Particular War Work

Mrs. Frank Stead Reports National Emergency Plans

At a meeting of Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., last evening in the headquarters, Mrs. J. Gordon Smith was appointed convener of a committee to collect new warm clothing for children from 2 to 14 years, and warm blankets for the evacuated children in the British Isles. The gifts will be received in the rooms, 202 Union Building, from September 25 to 30 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Gates is convener of a committee to receive the provincial emergency service forms, and will be assisted by Mrs. E. E. Dowdall and Mrs. Ernest Eve in investigating the possibility of holding classes in first aid and home nursing, the making of hospital supplies and training in motor mechanics.

NATIONAL REPORT

Mrs. Frank Stead of Vancouver, provincial president, was present and gave a lengthy and detailed report of the proceedings at the annual meeting of the National Chapter held in Toronto this summer.

Mrs. Stead reported that, in regard to emergency service work, British Columbia chapters were given leave to carry on the work they had undertaken in regard to training, etc., but the National Chapter was not prepared to extend this work across the Dominion. Two of the National officers attended a meeting called by Senator Cairine Wilson and Miss Margaret Hyndman of representatives of many organizations, and after hearing their report it was decided not to register outside of the order until such time as the government decides it is necessary to register all women for service.

It was decided to ask the order to the Veterans' Assistance Commission in their work of rehabilitating former soldiers.

WOULD REGISTER ALIENS

A suggestion that all aliens and their families, their records, means of subsistence, etc., be registered and followed up was to be sent to the government.

The educational committee decided to make an effort to place a picture of Alcock and Brown in every school in the Dominion, and if it was not possible for the order to do this alone, to enlist the support of the Parent-Teacher Association in this effort.

Mrs. Stead also touched upon the reports of other phases of the order's work, showing much progress made and valuable results accomplished.

Mrs. P. E. Corby, vice-regent of Municipal Chapter, presided over the meeting last evening and introduced Mrs. Stead and presented her with a lovely corsage bouquet. Miss Jessie Knight, regent of the Robert Burns Memorial Chapter, moved the vote of thanks to the speaker, and Miss Lucy Huzzey of Royal Bride (Junior) Chapter, seconded the motion.

MID-SEA RESCUE—The ship from which this photograph was taken, the Holland-American liner Statendam, was "a fine sight" to the men seen in the small boat. They are part of the crew of the British freighter Winkleigh, torpedoed by a German submarine, 300 miles off Ireland. First vessel to answer their SOS was the Statendam and—after drifting seven hours, the Winkleigh's skipper and 36 men were glad to pull alongside and scramble up the Statendam's side on rope ladders. Captain Thomas Georgeson reported the U-boat commander had been "very nice," and that his men were in good shape except for being hungry, so—down to the rescue ship's mess-room they went and fell to on a hearty meal. Passengers supplied them with clothing and took up a collection to treat them to champagne. With everybody happy, the Statendam took them safely into New York.

Power Rate Cut Fails to Please

A committee of four, headed by Mayor Andrew McGavin and including Aldermen T. W. Hawkins, W. L. Morgan and J. A. Worthington, will seek an immediate interview with the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited leaders to see if reductions more favorable to the consuming public can be secured in city light and power rates.

Decision to take that action followed a meeting of the City Council, sitting as committee of the whole on the electric rate issue today.

Favorable results from such a meeting were foreseen by Alderman Hawkins, sponsor of the motion calling for a round-table friendly discussion.

His motion superseded one from Alderman W. L. Morgan urging the council to accept the rate cuts offered by W. G. Murrin, company president, and to press for further reductions. His move would also have entailed establishment of a contract with the company on the Goldstream plan satisfactory to the city and would have asked a reduction in small power rates for elevators and elimination of the gas meter charge.

SAVING ON COMPANY OFFER

D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller-treasurer, reported on an interview with A. T. Goward, in which the city official had sought figures from the power company vice-president.

Access to those figures had been declined, he stated, but remarked Mr. Goward had indicated a rate structure for Victoria would be established by the provincial public utilities commission. Striking of the rate would entail surveys lasting 18 months to two years, the comptroller stated on information from Mr. Goward. The latter, he added, had suggested the city accept the company's offer pending setting of a rate schedule.

Mr. Macdonald estimated 45 per cent of the domestic consumers in Victoria would benefit by 8-13 per cent on the primary rate, first stage, proposed by the company. That, he thought, would amount to approximately 12 cents a month in the average case.

The secondary rate was an inducement rate, he added. Mr. Macdonald suggested the surest way of informing the public of a reduction, would be to retain existing rates and make a general percentage reduction on total bills presented to the household.

Alderman Morgan reviewed letters between the mayor and Mr. Murrin.

"We made a request. They replied with an offer of about one-quarter or one-third of what we asked," he said. It was, however, a reduction. He thought the city should accept it to give the consumers the immediate benefits and still press for lower charges.

BETTER TERMS

Alderman Hawkins noted the proposal of Mr. Murrin was the company's first offer. He thought more favorable terms could be negotiated.

Alderman Dewar would have accepted the company offer immediately and sought more.

The mayor asked how long the council thought it should grant the company a contract for Goldstream water?

Alderman Morgan suggested a year.

Alderman Hawkins thought that would be a great mistake. When street cars were abolished, he felt the company would no longer need the Goldstream plant and that the city should sign a contract for as long a period as possible.

Alderman Worthington put forward a suggestion that the city make a five-year agreement on Goldstream at a return to the city of $18,000 a year, accept the company's proposed rate schedule for domestic light, renew the present city lighting contract, seek reduction in elevator power rates and ask elimination of the gas meter charge.

Alderman S. H. Okell thought the company's proposed reduction was little enough. It would, however, represent more than a mill in saving to the consumers. He thought the cut should be accepted at once with provision made for further negotiations.

It was noted with regret that the Musical Festival would not be held in the spring on account of present conditions. Following the business session, the president gave an informal account of the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers' Association held in Saskatchewan last July.

Protest Increase in Food Prices

Unnecessary increase in food prices brought about by the war was protested by the Trades and Labor Council in a resolution adopted last night.

While endorsing this principle the council declined to send a delegate to a C.C.F. meeting organized to discuss this issue since labor principles prevented a recognized delegate being permitted to sit on a platform at any politically organized meeting.

Full conscription of wealth, industry, raw materials and goods, before manpower, was favored in another resolution passed by the council.

The United States has approximately 7,300 coal mines, 11,000 metal mines, 2,000 stone quarries, 4,000 sand and gravel pits, and more than 300,000 producing oil and gas wells.

Soldier Bonus Draws Protest

The City Council decision to bonus employees who enlist for active service and the provincial government action in making up the difference in pay of enlisted men was criticized in resolutions endorsed by the Trades and Labor Council last night.

On the motion of James P. Torrance the labor council strongly protested the city's action in providing employees with a month's wages and in some instances giving their positions to their wives. This, it was claimed, was unfair to the taxpayer.

Mr. Torrance said one City Hall man who had enlisted received $1.90 a day, $35 a month for wife and $12 a month for his child, in addition to his keep at barracks and the month's bonus from the city. Then his job was given to his wife, who received $75 a month, to make their total earnings $175 a month.

Misuse of public money by the provincial government was also alleged in another resolution which protested enlisted civil servants receiving the difference between their army pay and regular wages from the government.

Edwin Fox, president, agreed their seniority should be preserved, their superannuation maintained and positions kept for them, but did not think the people's money should make up their wage differences.

W. H. Youhill cited what he called the inequality of the arrangement when some men had given up $8.30 a day jobs to enlist as privates at $1.30 a day. If the government paid for one it should pay for all, he claimed.

CHILDREN'S AID TO CARRY ON WORK

At a well-attended meeting of the board of directors of the Children's Aid Society held recently, the members were unanimous in declaring that the society must continue to carry on its work to the fullest extent possible, in war as in peace, on behalf of needy children.

Reports of committees covering activities of the summer months indicated the need for continuous effort if lasting results are to be obtained. One hundred and two families had been under supervision of the society in the period from January to September of this year. A total of 120 different children had been directly in the care of the society and under supervision in one or other of its 93 approved foster homes.

The close of August there were 24 babies under supervision in adoption homes; 4 adoptions had been completed; 11 adoption homes were awaiting a child. Reports regarding the successful results from foster-home placements of delinquents emphasized the great value of this provision through the society's co-operation with the Juvenile Court. The board expressed the hope that funds would be available to make possible a continuation of this service.

The child-placing and supervision committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. J. Hartnell, were requested to make arrangements for a social evening and entertainment at which the 150 foster parents who are making a splendid contribution to the welfare of children in this community will be guests of the board.

The president reported the appointment to the staff of Miss Barbara Van Kleeck, B.A., graduate in social service. Miss Van Kleeck has taken the place of Mrs. Gwen Hughes, R.N., who left to enter the course in social service at the University of British Columbia.

B.C. Conserving Fish for War Use

British Columbia will conserve its fish for Empire use in wartime.

This was indicated today when Premier Pattullo announced the government will not issue any licenses this fall for salmon dry-salting.

The Premier made no further explanation but in other sources it was learned the government's action will cut the province off from a $168,000 market for dry salt salmon in Japan.

The chum salmon that would be dry-salted will be diverted to the canning and freezing trade, from which the products go to Empire markets.

Seven salmon dry-salting operations last year producing enough to satisfy the Japanese market of $168,000. The action, approved by the Salt-fish Marketing Board, was taken on the theory that as much protein food as possible should be diverted to the Empire during the war, it is understood.

Herring dry-salting is not affected. Last year the herring trade was worth $112,000.

The dry-salt fish market in Japan has been reduced in the last two years by the Japanese control of foreign exchange. The Japanese government has allowed only 1,000,000 yen (about $240,000) of foreign exchange to buy B.C. salt fish and this has resulted in curtailment of production here.

UNITED STATES BEHIND CAUSE

"I believe that we must keep out of war yet I assure you my country will not fail you in the hour of need," said Dr. William A. Petzoldt of Billings, Montana, addressing the Rotary Club at lunch in the Empress Hotel today.

Dr. Petzoldt was for 30 years in charge of the work of the American Baptist Home Mission Society among the Crow Indians in Montana.

Millions of people in different parts of the world prayed that the United States would not fail God and mankind in the hour of need, he believed. He was sure their prayers would be fulfilled.

Dr. Petzoldt told his audience that he was not a member of the Democratic party in the United States but nevertheless he believed in President Franklin D. Roosevelt's foreign policy 100 per cent.

While we were living in a time of danger we were also living in a time of opportunity, he said. Canada and the United States could do a great deal of good during the present troubled times.

The two nations had much in common with their 3,000 miles of border and 100 years of peace.

"North America is the modern 'Promised Land,'" he continued. "There isn't another place in the world that has the natural resources we have."

Dr. Petzoldt thought it was better to be with those who were fighting for the right rather than with those in the wrong.

There was a class of people in the United States who called themselves isolationists and who claimed to believe in neutrality.

"There can be no neutrality in the world today in my opinion," he said. "Anything in the world was related to everything in the world. The only relationship big enough for man is all of mankind."

Drove Car When License Suspended

Because he drove a car while his driver's license was under suspension, Peter Bong, Chinese, may be sent to jail.

This morning in the City Police Court he pleaded guilty to the charge and told the court his license had been suspended when he failed to prove financial responsibility to operate a car. He was remanded until tomorrow. The maximum penalty provided by statute is $500 fine or six months' imprisonment or both fine and imprisonment.

C. L. Harrison, prosecutor, offered to secure evidence of Provincial Police dealing with the case and Magistrate Hall replied "I consider this a serious matter. My present disposition is to send you to jail," he said to the accused. "I should have all the facts and will remand the case until tomorrow."

Lumber Export At New High

Waterborne exports of British Columbia lumber reached a new high monthly record in August of 156,074,492 board feet, according to Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau figures made public today.

This raised to 956,412,181 board feet the total shipments for the first eight months of 1939, which is an increase of 174,000,000 board feet, about 23 per cent over shipments for the same period of last year.

Two-thirds of this lumber has gone to the United Kingdom, 641,410,824 board feet, establishing an all-time record for that market's purchases. Australia is next with 96,434,059 board feet among the Empire markets, and Africa follows with 40,611,446 board feet. The United States has taken 81,935,755 feet.

Curtailment of practically all markets except the Empire and the United States is shown in the report for August. China took but 541,525 feet, Germany 349,08 feet, Italy 100,078 feet France 40,404 feet, Belgium 132,332 feet and Holland 19,502 feet, Japan took nothing.

In view of the war's possible effects on the lumber industry the figures were studied with more than usual interest. Latest surveys show that logging camps and mills are working at a fair level along the island, and officials of the industry say that as long as ships can be found to carry lumber at reasonable rates, there is no reason why the trade should not be maintained.

TWO ISSUES FOR TRANSPORT BOARD

An application from the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island for an order by the board directing the railway companies to re-establish coast terminal rates to Nanaimo from eastern Canadian points will be one of two items considered by the Board of Transport for Canada, scheduled to meet at the courthouse next Thursday morning at 10.

The other is an application of the Department of Public Works of British Columbia regarding the proposed widening of the railway bridge which crosses Riverside Drive at Cowichan Lake, Vancouver Island, and the question of the apportioning of the cost of constructing and maintaining the same.

Save Money On Enlisted Men

Victoria will save $1,800 during the next six months on the six men who left the city to join the troops, Alderman W. L. Morgan told the City Council in committee of the whole today.

His statement was given in reply to criticism raised by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council over the bonus arrangements for city employees answering the call to the colors. Since the bonus was arranged, six men had enlisted or been called to service, he said. Of those two had not been replaced. In the other four cases women were employed at the minimum wage. As a result a saving of $300 a month was assured on the six, he said.

Question arose over the charge by the trades council that one militia member in the city employ had secured his City Hall job for his wife. Walter Englehart, in charge of the office which drew the complaint, explained his staff had been "stuck" and needed an immediate substitute. The wife of the militia man had been able to handle the machine in the office and had been engaged. Her work was quite satisfactory, he added.

The mayor later stated she had been given the position to make up the difference between her income when her husband was engaged at the City Hall and when he went on active service.

A resolution was carried to inform those replacing enlisted men their jobs were temporary and that they could be relieved of them without the customary month's notice.

TRANS-CANADA PLANES CONTINUE

Rumors that the Trans-Canada Airlines had been taken over by the Department of National Defence for military purposes and had discontinued passenger service were denied this morning at T.C.A. headquarters. It was pointed out that the government had indicated its desire that the T.C.A. be maintained as a vital communication service, making its contribution to the Dominion's war-time effort by carrying on its usual functions of providing regular and rapid schedules for the carriage of passengers, mails and express. Passenger-reservations are being made as usual.

JACK LONDON

The Hardys Ride High, Oak Bay

"The Hardys Ride High," sixth of the famous series dealing with the popular screen family, opened at the Oak Bay Theatre today and won immediate plaudits from a capacity audience.

The new picture is different in every respect from the others, but the beloved Hardys remain the same. Now they inherit $2,000,000 and move to Detroit to claim it. On the plane, their changed status first effects Aunt Milly, played by Sara Haden, and she falls for a business man who is a fellow passenger.

The family is on edge, figuratively hanging over the precipice of new-found wealth, when the judge discovers evidence to prove that he is not the legal heir. He can destroy the evidence and retain the fortune, or produce it and give up everything. There is never a question in his mind.

Bachelor Mother Capitol Show

Gaiety and cleverness mark the new comedy romance, "Bachelor Mother," the Ginger Rogers-David Niven co-starrer now at the Capitol Theatre.

Perfectly tailored to the talents of its two principals, "Bachelor Mother" deals with Miss Rogers' troubles in trying to convince the world that she is not the mother of a baby whom she finds on the steps of an orphan home. The mirth-making situation interferes with her job as a sales girl in a big department store owned by Niven's father. Niven, attempting to force Ginger to keep the baby by threatening to discharge her, incurs the jealousy of Gingers' self-appointed boy friend, who misinforms Niven's father that his son is the father of the baby.

The brilliant featured cast is headed by such favorites as Charles Coburn, Frank Albertson, E. E. Clive, Ernest Truex and Ferike Boros.

RACETRACK TALENT TONIGHT AT CAPITOL

Tonight is "Sport of Kings Night" at the Capitol Theatre, the annual Capitol turf event, when, on the stage, will be presented a combination of talent recruited from the ranks of trainers, jockeys and owners from the Wil- lows race track.

Jack Short, the voice of the races, has discovered jockeys and trainers can do a lot more than ride and train winners and losers on the local track. Many of the boys have unquestionable ability in singing and dancing. So he is presenting this unique combination of turf talent in a merry musical comedy revue in conjunction with the regular Capitol show. On the screen Ginger Rogers will be presented in "Bachelor Mother," as well as a racing-special of more than usual interest, "The Life of Sea Biscuit," giving the history and life story of the famous race horse.

Fast Action In 'Frontier Marshal'

Action will be the order of the day when "Frontier Marshal," comes to the Atlas Theatre tomorrow, with Randolph Scott and Nancy Kelly in the leading roles. This stirring 20th Century-Fox production tells the vivid story of the wildest town of the dangerous old west, where life wasn't worth a lead nickel—until a gun-fighting marshal brought in the law at the shooting end of a six-gun.

'Wolf Call' On Plaza Screen

John Carroll and Movita head the cast of Monogram's "Wolf Call," the Jack London story which is now at the Plaza Theatre.

Movita, who recently married Jack Doyle in Mexico, has the role of Tovanah, the beautiful Indian maid who achieves the regeneration of playboy Mike Vance, who is John Carroll. Both Carroll and Movita have an opportunity to sing in this picture.

A strong cast of outstanding actors supports the two stars. Heading these is Peter George Lynn, who has the role of Father Devlin, the very human priest who befriends Mike and Tovanah. Polly Ann Young, sister of Loretta Young, is seen as Natalie.

'Winter Carnival' Coming to Plaza

Instead of being a gangster, a "mug" or a machine-gunning G-man, Robert Armstrong, after 23 years in motion pictures, has a role approximating his real life status. In Walter Wanger's "Winter Carnival," which comes to the Plaza Theatre Monday through United Artists release, this erstwhile "killer diller" is a quiet-mannered college graduate.

Following his graduation from the University of Washington, Armstrong obtained his first screen part. He was a prize-fighter in the picture. From then on virtually every producer for whom he worked cast him either for or against the law—but always "mowing 'em down."

In "Winter Carnival" Armstrong plays his first sympathetic characterization. He is cast as a top-flight newspaper man, out of a job and on relief. Armstrong's role is a keystone in a brilliant cast which supports Miss Sheridan and Carlson in the starring assignments. The film was directed by Charles F. Riesner from a screenplay written by Budd Schulberg, Maurice Rapf and Lester Cole.

Shipbuilding Boom May Be Revived Here

Revival of shipbuilding in Victoria as a war emergency is a possibility in view of the announcement from Ottawa that construction of a fleet of anti-submarine and mine-sweeping craft is contemplated for Canada's defence.

"Plants in Victoria are right now equipped for the building of vessels of any tonnage," it was stated by local shipbuilders today.

Whatever contracts may be placed by the Dominion Government—whether it be for subchasers, minesweepers or even larger types of vessels—Victoria will be in line to handle its share of the business, it was pointed out.

It was only last year that Yarrows Ltd. of Esquimalt completed H.M.C.S. Nootka, one of four minesweepers built to the order of the federal government.

This is the type of vessel that would be laid down in the event of further contracts, being awarded to Canadian builders.

The Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd., through its subsidiary, the Harbor Marine Company Ltd., built two steel freighters, the Canadian Winner and Canadian Traveler, here during the Great War for the Canadian Merchant Marine.

The plant was located on the industrial reserve, where the works of the Sidney Roofing and Paper Company are at present located.

Another war-born industry which boomed Victoria was the shipbuilding in the upper harbor, at Point Hope and Point Ellice, where the Foundation Company of Canada Ltd. built 20 wooden steamships for the French government to be used as a supply bridge across the Atlantic. The Chibougamau shipyard, and, earlier, the plant of the Cameron-Genoa Shipbuilding Company, also contributed to Victoria's shipbuilding activity.

War Risk Insurance

NEW YORK (AP)—The British government has undertaken the writing of a war risk insurance of 2 per cent per $100 cargo evaluation on all cargoes destined for United Kingdom ports, the New York Times says.

It was reported the British government also had placed a similar rate in effect on westbound cargo out of United Kingdom ports, regardless of the nationality of the ship.

'GIRL PAT' MASTER IN COURT ACTION

GRIMSBY, Eng. (CP)—A suit launched by George Black Osborne, former skipper of the Girl Pat, was settled in county court here today.

Osborne appeared dressed as a naval reserve officer.

The action involved disposal of $110 paid into court with respect to the trawler Shade. The defendant was Robert Dean of Brixton.

Osborne claimed he purchased the trawler with his own money and alleged the defendant suggested that by means of this vessel Osborne should smuggle refugees and tobacco from Antwerp to the Dories.

Dean claimed he had paid for the Shade and denied the smuggling allegations.

Counsel said a settlement had been arrived at between the parties and that the fraud allegation would be withdrawn.

In April, 1936, Osborne and his brother James took the Girl Pat out on what she supposed to be a fishing trip in the North Sea. The vessel was unheard of again until she turned up off the coast of South Africa.

Next she appeared off the coast of South America and the Osborne brothers were arrested at Georgetown, British Guiana, where the owners charged they had stolen the trawler. Returned to England, George was sentenced to 18 months and James to one year at hard labor. They said they had been seeking buried treasure.

Around the Docks

CHARLOTTE TAKES TRIANGLE SAILINGS

Replacing Princess Marguerite on the triangle route, Princess Charlotte, fresh from drydock, cleared from the Belleville Street docks at 4.30 yesterday afternoon for Seattle.

On completing her run from Vancouver, Princess Marguerite went around to Esquimalt, where Yarrows Ltd. placed her in drydock for underwater overhaul and painting.

Further changes will take place on Monday next when Princess Victoria will temporarily replace Princess Kathleen in the triangle service.

These substitutions have been made to allow Princess Kathleen and Princess Marguerite to make special trips to Victoria next Tuesday with some 2,000 members of the American Bankers' Association from Seattle.

Assembling Lumber

This week's lull in lumber loading activity at the Canadian National docks will be broken by arrival of the freighter Sinnington Court to stow several thousand feet. The docking of the vessel is indefinite, but lumber is being assembled for her at Ogden Point.

Sinnington Court is but one of a considerable fleet scheduled for loading here.

British Ship Showed Heels to Submarine

LONDON (CPHavas)—An account of a British steamship's successful race against a submarine which dropped two shells around her from a range of 4,000 yards was released last night by the Ministry of Information.

"For obvious reasons, neither the name of the captain nor ship can be made public," the statement said.

"The chief officer, who happened to be on the after deck, saw the U-boat coming to the surface about 4,000 yards away, two points abaft to the starboard beam. He immediately gave the alarm."

"As the captain arrived on the bridge two shots landed within 100 yards. The master promptly altered his course to bring the submarine well on the quarter and began to evade. Ordering his men to take cover, and keeping his ship into the wind, which was north to northwest, the captain compelled the U-boat to give chase and managed to draw ahead, increasing the range to about 6,000 yards, or three miles."

"For some time the U-boat managed to gain on her quarry. But the steamship eventually attained the speed of 15 knots.

"By 3 o'clock she was doing approximately 16 knots. She started to draw ahead and at 4.10 the submarine, about four miles astern, gave up the chase and disappeared."

SHIP ATTACKED BY HAIL OF SHELLS

VANCOUVER (CP)—C. O. Bowen, Vancouver Evangelist, who was aboard the torpedoed liner Athenia, said on his arrival here today he was convinced the passenger ship was attacked with a "hail of shells" after being torpedoed.

"They burst all around us, even as we jumped into the lifeboats," Bowen said. "It is horrible to think even a fighting craft would try to prevent women and children from escaping from a sinking ship. Yet that seemed to be the object."

The evangelist said men on the liner stood aside regardless of their own safety until women and children had left the ship.

Courage of the survivors was "magnificent, but many women were suffering from shattered nerves and the children looked as if they had been awakened from a nightmare."

Mauretania at New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Armed to repel submarines and aircraft, the British liner Mauretania arrived here yesterday from Great Britain with 695 passengers, including many Canadians.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—featureless trading held wheat futures prices close to previous levels throughout today's session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Early hedging pressure was offset by support from southern buyers and exporters, and at the finish quotations were unchanged to 1/4 cent lower, October at 76 1/2, November 75 1/2, December 75 1/2 and May 80 1/2.

Most of the southern purchases were believed to have come out in connection with light inter-market operations between Winnipeg and Chicago. Actual overseas sales of Canadian wheat were difficult to confirm.

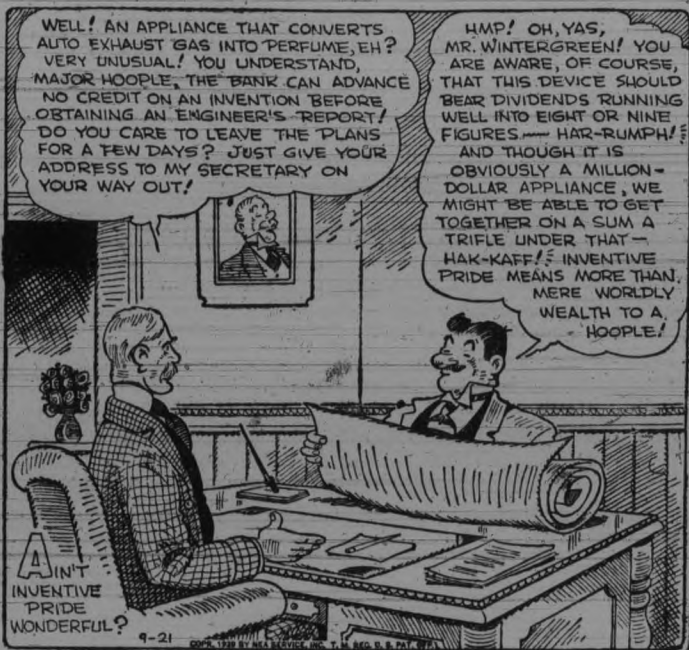

Export houses made minor cash wheat purchases of Nos. 1 to 4 northern. Hedgers provided most of the action in the coarse grain pit, although exporters and malsters bought barley and mills took some oats.

The Rise and Fall of Babylon

IV—THE GODDESS ISHTAR

Children of the ancient city of Babylon were told many stories. One rather interesting one was about the goddess, Ishtar. Here is a short account of it:

"One day Ishtar, the daughter of the moon-god, thought of going to the underworld, the House of Shadows, where her cruel sister ruled as queen.

The Goddess Ishtar

"To the House of Shadows she went, to the place from which no one can come back. They have no light there and live in darkness. They are clothed like birds.

"On reaching the wate, Ishtar called, 'Ho! Gate-keeper! Open thy gate. If you don't open, I will break the door, I will wrench the locks, I will smash the door-pests!'

"The gate-keeper opened his mouth and said, 'Stop, oh lady, do not destroy the door. I will tell the queen you are here.'

"When the sister heard of Ishtar's visit, she was angry, but said, 'Go, gate-keeper, and open thy gate for her.'

"The gate-keeper opened wide the gate, but took the large crown from Ishtar's head. Later he led her through other gates, taking away some of her ornaments each time he let her through. He explained that he had so because of orders from his queen. "Before long, Ishtar grew sorry she had come to the House of Shadows, but no matter how hard she begged, her sister would not let her leave.

"Meanwhile, the moon-god learned where his daughter had gone, and worried about her. He sent a messenger to the House of Shadows, with a command that she be set free. The queen of the underworld did not like to let Ishtar go, but followed the command. The goddess was sprinkled with the waters of life, and was taken out."

We call such tales "myths," and that is what they are, but we must remember they were part of the religion of the people who told them. It was the same with the myths of the Greeks and Romans.

The myths of Babylon were told perhaps a thousand years before the ancient Greeks wrote down their tales. It is quite likely that the Greeks "borrowed" a number of Babylon's gods and goddesses, but changed their names. Sometimes Ishtar was spoken of as showing her face in the shining of the bright planet which we know as Venus. Ishtar's main duty was supposed to be to watch over the crops. The story of her going down to the House of Shadows is believed to have been an effort to explain why the plant life of the earth dies when winter comes.

Benefic aspects rule strongly today. There is a sign stimulating to mind and body. Optimism should guide under this configuration, which is promising to men and women. The day is especially fortunate for intellectuals and should be helpful to educational projects. Stress on vocational training will be strong. This is a day in which persons of opposite sex see each other with the mind as well as the eyes. It is a fortunate rule of the stars for putting the right estimate upon character. Girls who win suitors on this date should be sure of long devotion. Commercial circles should be cheered today by the outlook for the next few weeks. Exports should greatly increase. Food prices may rise as demands for large shipments to foreign countries are indicated. This is an auspicious way for aviation and presages speeding of work in airplane factories.

Desire for conquest will continue to promote danger of conflict among the nations of Europe. Statesmen and diplomats will gain and lose power as cabinets change in the next few months. The impossibility of avoiding connection with world upheavals will be apparent in Ottawa. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of happiness through love affairs and marriage. ANSWER: Right. The Statue of Liberty is now a part of the United States national park and monument system, though it was made in France.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—My wife and I have always believed ourselves in love with each other, but now we have come almost to the parting of the ways because of her cat. I don't want the cat in the house and think its place is in the kitchen or the cellar, where there are no rugs, but every time I put out the cat she calls it in, though she knows I don't like it, and when I make a fuss about it she says I don't love her. When I find the cat on the bed I slap it and try to teach it that that is not a place for it, and she immediately pets it and says that I should be ashamed to treat an animal that can't defend itself so cruelly. And it all ends in a quarrel. Sometimes I lose my patience so far as to kick it out and then hell begins. Do you think a cat is worth breaking up the harmony of a home over?

A HUSBAND.

Answer: Certainly not. I get your point and sympathize with your having to play second fiddle to Minnie or Tom, as the case may be. But, in all fairness, you will have to admit that there are two sides to the matter and that it is your wife's house as much as yours and she is as much entitled to have a cat as you are to object to it.

So there you are, and that is what makes it so difficult for husbands and wives to adjust themselves to each other, for they have equal rights to assert their tastes and when these don't jibe what are you to do? But you wouldn't believe how much domestic trouble pets unbeknowningly stir up. Sometimes, as in your case, the wife wants to fill the house with cats and the husband doesn't like the smell of them and gets tired of picking hairs off his clothes. Sometimes the man's heart is set on a dog and the wife won't let Fido come on the premises. In one case that I knew a husband divorced his wife because she would have snakes crawling all over the place.

Evidently when husbands and wives don't see eye to eye about domestic animals the best thing for them to do is to make a pet of each other and let it go at that.

Little Theatre Will Aid Patriotic Work

The Victoria Little Theatre Association has decided that its efforts should be devoted to assisting such worthy objects as the Canadian Red Cross Society and the Canadian Patriotic Fund. Entertainment for the soldiers and sailors will also figure largely in the association's efforts. The annual general meeting will be held September 26 in the Little Theatre, Rockland

Avenue, when it is hoped that representatives of the Red Cross and other societies will be in attendance. All old members of the society are urged to attend this meeting, and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone interested in the work of the association.

A particular invitation is extended to members of other theatrical groups, who, because of present conditions, are unable to continue their work during the coming season.

Feared Drowned

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP) — Frederick Lloyd Dagan, 22-year-old member of a British Columbia mining school at Quesnel, 65 miles north of here, is believed to have drowned in the north fork of the Quesnel River.

B.C. police said Dagan, who came from Burnaby Creek, was on the river bank and that Dagan left his companions to set up a camp on Kangaroo Creek.

A pick and shovel were found on the south side of the river at a cable crossing and food, clothing and equipment discovered at his camp on the north side.

W. R. Campbell
Heads New War
Supply Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Wallace R. Campbell of Windsor, Ontario, president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, has been appointed chairman of the new War Supply Board.

R. C. Vaughan, chairman of the Defence Purchasing Board, which will be replaced by the War Supply Board, will be vice-chairman and director of general purchases in the new organization. Mr. Vaughan is vice-president in charge of purchasing for the Canadian National Railways.

Both men will serve without salary. The War Supply Board, being set up under the authority of the War Measures Act, will have extraordinarily wide powers to mobilize and utilize industry and resources for war purposes.

WALLACE R. CAMPBELL

The government obtained power at the recent emergency session of Parliament to create a ministry of munitions and supply, but announced at the time that it would first build up the War Supply Board and exercise the power to appoint a full-time minister only if experience of the board should indicate the necessity.

Mr. Campbell and Mr. Vaughan will retain their connections in the business world while serving on the board.

The statement in which Prime Minister King announced the appointment last night said that "although the transportation situation brought about by the war made it highly desirable for Mr. Vaughan to return to his railway duties at the earliest possible date, the government had felt justified in pressing Mr. Vaughan to give his services and wide experience to the new board during the early stages at least."

The statement said additional members of the board would be appointed later. The board is expected to work in collaboration with the British trade mission now in Ottawa to arrange for purchase of war supplies for the United Kingdom government.

Wallace Campbell has been identified with the Ford Motor Company of Canada and the City of Windsor throughout his career. He has never previously held public office, though active in Red Cross and Boy Scout affairs.

Born in Windsor February 3, 1882, he attended Windsor schools. In 1904 the Ford Company set up a Canadian branch in Windsor and Campbell became interested in development of the motor car.

He was with the Ford Company of Canada during its greatest expansion period, when it reached out for Empire markets, and in 1919 he became assistant treasurer. In 1921, he became third vice-president and in 1922 first vice-president and treasurer. In 1929 he was made president, retaining his post as treasurer and a director to the present time.

ROSE FROM MESSENGER

R. C. Vaughan of Montreal, was born at Toronto in 1883, and has been associated with railway business since he was 14, when he started as a messenger for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. He rose through various grades in the Canadian Northern Railway. In 1922 he became vice-president of the Canadian National Railways.

French Ease Restrictions

PARIS (AP) — Military restrictions on civilian life are being relaxed behind France's war front. Police censorship on telegrams inside France, in effect since mobilization, has been canceled. Telephone service to all departments except those on the frontier or in military zones has been established, although callers must speak French.

The French Association for the Protection of Animals announced that gas masks are now available for dogs, cats and other pets.

ARCHBISHOP OF
MONTREAL DIES

MONTREAL (CP) — Mgr. Paul Bruchesi, 84, Archbishop of Montreal, died last night after a long illness.

Archbishop of Montreal since 1897, he had been in poor health since 1919, when an incurable ailment forced him into retirement.

A native of Montreal, Mgr. Bruchesi was the son of an Italian merchant. He received his early education here and at Issy, France, and continued his theological studies in Paris and Rome.

He was ordained priest in Rome in 1878 and became a master in canon law and received the degree of doctor of divinity there.

On his return to Canada, Mgr. Bruchesi served for a time as private secretary to Archbishop Fabre here. He then was appointed professor of dogmatic theology at Laval University in Quebec.

In 1885 he was assigned to parochial work in Montreal and served successively as vicar of St. Bridget's Church and at St. Joseph's Church. In 1887 he was appointed a canon of St. James' Cathedral in Montreal and in the same year on the establishment of the Montreal branch of Laval University (now the University of Montreal) he became professor of Christian Apologetics in that institution.

Archbishop Fabre expressed an earnest wish to have him named as his successor and Pope Leo XIII in 1897 concurred in the recommendation. On August 8, 1898, Mgr. Bruchesi was invested with the pallium. He was consecrated in St. James Cathedral by Archbishop Begin, later a cardinal.

Under his administration of the archdiocese new churches sprang up. Colleges, schools and convents multiplied, while charitable institutions received more than a helping hand from the prelate.

Every year from Christmas to Epiphany the archbishop spent the whole of his time visiting the many institutions for the sick, the poor, the aged and the afflicted.

He showed particular solicitude for the Home for Incurables at Notre Dame de Grace, maintaining the institution largely out of his own purse.

Hitler's Henchmen Have Fortunes Abroad

LONDON (CP) — Hitler's Nazi Party leaders, according to the Daily Mail, have deposited private fortunes amounting to "millions of pounds" in banks of neutral countries.

The newspaper says cash and securities amounting to £3,334,000 have been deposited abroad "in the names of Hitler's seven leading henchmen, Von Ribbentrop, Goering, Goebbels, Hess, Himmler, Ley and Streicher. In addition they have taken out life insurance policies for £3,640,600, making a total of £6,974,600."

The Mail adds, "Hitler appears to be the only Nazi leader who has no credits to his name, either in New York banks or elsewhere."

Purchase City Block

The Caledonia Block on View Street will shortly be taken over by the Victoria Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, it was announced last night by Frank H. LeRoy, chairman of a special committee named to negotiate the purchase, at a meeting of the local lodge. Redecoration of the building is included in the committee's plans, after which the building will be available to various organizations for meetings.

The meeting approved a suggestion to create a benefit fund for dependents of members killed in overseas service.

LONDON (CP) — More than 30 exhibition matches will be played Saturday by English soccer teams. League clubs await clarification of the situation by the Football Association, but prospects of regular competitive soccer are beginning to fade.

It is understood restriction of attendances is the big problem facing government and soccer authorities, and under present plans crowds would not be allowed to exceed 5,000 persons at any game.

Count — And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, doped, tired and peevish.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

In a preliminary after the main event Bob Nestell of Los Angeles scored a technical knockout in the fifth over Chuck Crowell of Spokane, Wash., Nestell weighed 187 and Crowell 216.

Winnipeg lies in the middle of the North American Continent; midway between the Arctic and the Gulf of Mexico, and the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. Four great railways converge upon her, as did the historic roads leading to Rome. Her immense railway yards cover miles of tracks and sheds. Manitoba has been always before the eyes of the world — first as a romantic frontier, then as the possessor of fabulous wealth, then as the home of an industrious population that wrested from the soil, the lakes, the forests, and the mines, an immense annual income. In 1936 she produced $234,000,000 in her varied activities; agriculture, mining, forestry, trapping, fisheries (don't forget her Lake Winnipeg that measures 8,500 square miles), exporting a million and a half tons of these various commodities, which include pulpwood, dressed beef, and newsprint, to home and foreign markets. An amazing record! She has 80,000 registrations for motor vehicles and machines of all kinds, and 35,000 miles of highways and roads, of which she is surfacing additional miles every year. Tourists in motor cars and by train are coming in increasing numbers to see for themselves this great country. Visit her yards. See wheat, all other grains, cattle (alive and as dressed beef), pulpwood, newsprint — many other products for which hungry mouths of men and machinery wait in the industrialized East. See the tons of British Columbia fruits and salmon being unloaded for Manitoba's own consumption. Thus, the sale of Manitoba's products allows her to purchase those of sister provinces. BUILDING CANADIAN MOTOR CARS is a National Enterprise

Today there are approximately 1,300,000 cars and trucks in Canada. Beyond them are cars that line the streets of Melbourne, Bombay, Capetown and Singapore and other great Empire cities. While these vast fleets of vehicles hailed from Windsor and Walkerville, Oshawa and Tilbury, the actual work of building them has brought markets and prosperity to people in every Province. It has stimulated the production of raw materials throughout the Dominion and created a stable source of income for the farmer and the fisherman. The Automotive Industry is National in purpose and National in scope. When you buy a Canadian-built car, you help your own Province.
